

HOW TO START a REVOLUTION

Under The Sea

This is Chris.

Chris is sad because King Crab is mean. He makes Chris and the other sea animals pay him a lot of extra money just to live on the reef.

One day, Chris and his friends decided they had enough of King Crab's taxes. They would have to start a revolution to get rid of King Crab and his ways.

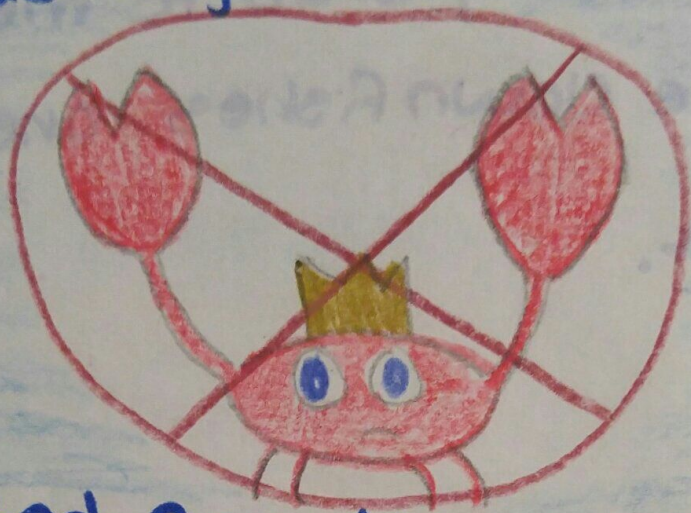

To start a revolution, Chris knew they would need a lot of people to help.

At work the next day, Chris and his friends told every body they knew did not like King Crab to meet at Stripes the clownfishes anemone that night.

At stripes house, all the sea animals agreed with chris. They didn't want King Crab anymore!

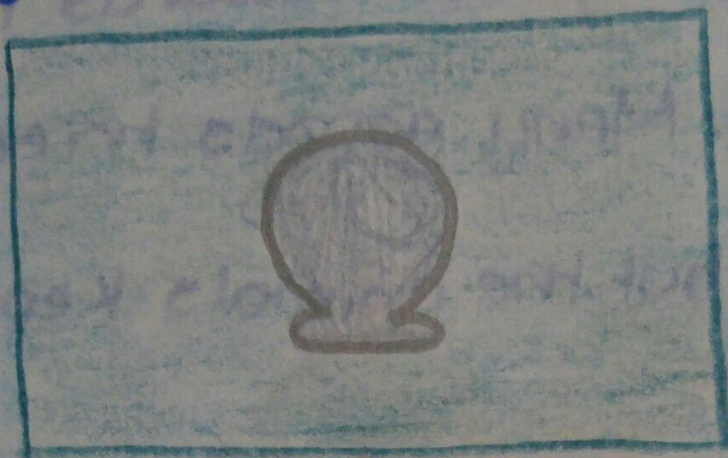

They voted Sam the Seal to be their leader. Sam and the other seals donated lots of money to help pay for the supplies they would need.

They even made their own flag!

The sea animals met again to plan when to start the revolution, and how. They planned the next week to meet at the Crab Castle to steal King Crab's Crown and make him leave!

Plan:

Step 2: _____

Step 3: _____

Step 4: _____

They swam together towards the king's room. Many guards tried to stop them, but the animals kept swimming.

They opened the doors and swarmed the thing. Frank the Flounder even took the crown and put it on his head.

The eels took the former King Crab outside and showed the animals what they had done.

Everybody cheered! They were free!!!
